After completing my senior secondary education in commerce, I developed a strong desire to become a business writer, where I could combine my passion for writing with my interest in the business world. During this period, I conducted extensive research on the field, exploring the skills required and the various career paths available. Encouraged by my findings, I applied for a Bachelor of Business Administration (BBA) program in the USA, believing it would provide me with a solid foundation in business concepts while enhancing my writing abilities. Unfortunately, my initial visa application was refused, which was disheartening but did not deter my aspirations. I took this setback as an opportunity to regroup and strengthen my application. I have since reapplied for the next intake, taking care to address the concerns that led to my previous visa refusal.
