In 2021, I completed my studies and dedicated myself to preparing for the airforce exams as per my parents' wishes. I put in a lot of hard work and successfully cleared the written exams, but couldn't clear the physical round, which was really disappointing for me. But With the help and motivation of my parents I regained my confidence and now set my sights on pursuing my goals aligned with the BBA program. Despite facing initial refusal, I reapplied for the current available intake at universities in the USA.

After finishing my studies in 2023, I began exploring different career paths. I attended seminars and educational fairs to carefully consider my options and realized the importance of having an international degree for my career. During this time, I studied online to gain a basic understanding of the business field and I developed a strong interest in obtaining a full business education in the USA and started the application process for the spring intake, which resulted in rejection, so I have reapplied for the current available intake.
