I observed and monitored him at close quarters. He never hesitated to accept challenges and academic responsibilities assigned to him. He has been diligent and passionate about his studies. He has good communication skills and he can effectively communicate with diverse people. He is a person with positive attitude towards life. I must say that he has good grasping and analysing capabilities.

Apart from his excellence in academics, he also showed remarkable performance in extracurricular activities. I am sure that he would live up to the high academic standards set by your institution and he will excel in his further studies. I wish him all the best for his future academic endeavors.
