Prabhu

After completing my B.Com, I had the opportunity to assist my cousin in managing his catering business. What started as a helping hand soon turned into a hands-on learning experience. I was responsible for organizing teams and deploying them to different locations based on client requirements. Whether it was a small private gathering or a large corporate event. Through this experience, I gained practical insights into business logistics, team coordination, and customer service. However, I also encountered real challenges handling last-minute changes, managing resources efficiently, and ensuring client satisfaction under pressure. I realized that while experience taught me a lot, there was still so much more to learn. I understood that professional knowledge in business strategy, financial management, and leadership is crucial for long-term success. This realization motivated me to pursue an MBA for the present 2025 intake.
