

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

I, Amandeep is much of a ambitious person and have looked for one of the best opportunities in terms of professional career. I didn't found much exposure in the Indian education system which made me think to further go with higher studies in overseas, this decision is a the first step towards the achievement of my settled goals. Talking about my educational achievements, I have done Matriculation and Senior Secondary in the year 2015 and 2019 respectively from Board of School Education Haryana and in between I have done a Diploma in Hospitality Management and Front Office Operations, the duration is from 2016-2018 from NIED Education Council New Delhi. I have also appeared for Pearson Test of English (PTE) and scored 64 overall.

As a student, my first preference to study abroad is United States of America as I want to be fully prepared in terms of a secured professional career. I think to have a unique academic experience, USA institutions are the perfect spot where updated curriculums will let me stand in the future market competition. So, I am confident that I would have a vast sea of opportunities in future, if I will be a part of the USA education system. All in all, to be unique as a fingerprint, an international degree from America will definitely workout.

After deciding the destination it was really difficult for me to finalize the university. So, I researched a lot according to the contents and program I want and selected Lincoln University to pursue Bachelor of Business Administration. Lincoln is a private university situated in Oakland, California. The institution is the leader in experiential learning with small class sizes of around 30-50 students, which makes it really easy for me to get involved with the fellow classmates and professors. All of the professors are great and always readily available according to the testimonials and reviews I have read. Also, the university presents students with such a wide variety of opportunities, whether it is in classes, majors, campus activities and groups or professional options and has a wide variety of ethnicity which allows every student to experience a variety of cultures and gain worldly experience. I have deeply explored about the concentrations they are offering in the business major, which are highly relatable to the industry requirements and match my interest.

The course I have selected is Bachelors in Business Administration and Management as I found the field exciting and highly rewarding. The study of basic competencies in business-related disciplines will help me to take leadership roles, team building, problem solving, etc. Also, I can develop my career as an entrepreneur and doing BBA is a right first step in the route. In the today's developing era every individual should be an all rounder and my main focus while selecting a course was my area of interest as well as the demand in my country.

In conclusion, I am heading towards a rewarding path where I have a surety of job security and growth.
