تكملة لرسالة - / دكتور. م. م. م. م.
(2024) (Kussam)

Suman

In 2024, after finishing my senior secondary education, I took a year to carefully think about my future and decide on the best path for my career. I explored the field of computer networking, which has always interested me because of its importance in connecting people and systems worldwide. During this time, I focused on understanding key concepts like network protocols, security, and data transmission, which strengthened my interest in pursuing this area further. Instead of rushing, I spent the year researching global study options to find the right program to build a strong foundation in networking. Now, I have applied for a Bachelor's degree in Computer and information science in the USA, confident that this course will provide the knowledge and skills I need to succeed in this growing and essential field.
