Upon the completion of my Bachelor of Commerce, I commenced my professional journey by joining my family's handloom and handicraft enterprise. During this year, I immersed myself in various aspects of the business, from finance to customer relations. I learned to manage budgets and analyze financial statements, understanding the importance of effective financial management in ensuring profitability while supporting local artisans. Interacting with customers at craft fairs helped me develop strong communication skills and gain insights into consumer preferences. I also optimized our supply chain and inventory management to maintain high-quality products and explored innovative marketing strategies to enhance our brand identity and online presence. This invaluable experience solidified my decision to pursue an MBA, where I aim to gain advanced skills in strategic management and innovation to drive growth and sustain our family legacy in an increasingly competitive market.
