Paramjeet (Hauran)

After completing my Bachelor of Arts in 2023, i took time to explore my growing interest in computer science and technology. During this time, I recognized the importance of developing technical skills to complement my background in the arts. I dedicated myself to self-study by learning about programming languages such as Python and Java, as well as fundamental concepts This not only solidified my programming skills but also exposed me to real-world applications of computer science. Additionally, I engaged with online communities, where I could share knowledge and collaborate with fellow learners, further enhancing my understanding of the field. This gap year was pivotal in confirming my passion for computer science and my desire to pursue further education in this field.
