

Statement of Purpose

I would like to introduce myself as Gaurav from India, an international student. I am always ambitious to study from abroad for my higher education. So after completing my bachelor's degree, I decided to apply for a Master's degree from the most advanced nation, USA. My educational background is that I did my matriculation in the year 2017 from the central board of secondary education and I passed my Senior Secondary from the same board in 2019. There are many reasons to select USA as we are all aware of the international degree's importance for better career options. It is hardly a secret that USA is known for its outstanding education system. One of the reasons for their top-ranked universities is how they are well-funded, well-equipped with modern technology, and have excellent faculties. These attributes create a well-established education system and make their students one of the prominent scholars. Other than this, the cultural diversity creates a learning opportunity for students, while they explore so many cultural backgrounds. The environment of these universities is welcoming and comfortable for students, as they build a community who has new ideas and perspectives to share. Another plus point is that the academic programs are flexible according to strengths, goals, and interests of students. As I was researching for courses and universities, I found Alliant International University as the most desirable university among others. What attracted me the most is that the class size is small, comparatively to other universities, which helps in communication with professors and learning. I believe the integration of research programs and case studies into the curriculum will help to understand the application of statistics in various fields. Also, the university offers many opportunities to get connected with local and international organizations. The multicultural society developed at the campus is welcoming and friendly for students. I believe that learning in such an environment will not only help me to develop a professional specialization by developing skill sets, but I also decided to pursue an MBA course. The MBA program continues to offer a lot of career assistance and future possibilities. It teaches me about management, business, finance, and marketing. It also teaches me about content management and introduces me to the business world. There are many career options after an MBA. The MBA course is always updated according to the needs of new companies. Anyone who wants to achieve a better career opportunity or start their own business or get training in this field is definitely an option. Who is going for an MBA degree has a wide range of career opportunities in HR, marketing, etc. MBA degree holders can work and apply for many jobs in retail, finance, marketing, and construction, and in other industries. This course will help you to become a leader in top companies because it teaches them the skills they need for work. So I think it gives me an opportunity to grow personally and professionally. After I get my degree in the United States, I will definitely return to my country because this is where my family is and I am deeply attached to them. Also, I have a plan to work in one of the most famous companies with a very lucrative package. It will help me succeed in life.

Regards

Gaurav