

Statement of Purpose

I'm from Haryana, India, and my name is Harsh Kumar. Regarding my academic background, I completed my senior secondary education in 2023 after completing my secondary education in 2021 at the Board of School Education Haryana. I've decided to complete my education in the United States. I chose to apply for my bachelor's degree in the USA since it is a top global destination for higher education and because I had always wanted to study there.

The United States of America is a fantastic nation renowned for its top-notch scientific and educational systems. The majority of international students choose American universities to finish their postsecondary education. The educational system is dynamic and adaptable. In addition to offering top-notch programs in every discipline, US colleges provide an incredibly impressive range of degree options. Additionally, students have the opportunity to work with and learn from highly skilled and successful researchers in the field.

Additionally, it prioritizes work-related activities and practical skills. In addition to setting the standard for science and technology, universities provide a wealth of cultural, recreational, and educational opportunities that foster interpersonal relationships and a feeling of global awareness. Following much research, I've concluded that Lincoln University in the US is the university of my dreams. Lincoln University seems to be a respectable institution that provides excellent practice-based learning in a challenging, creative setting. After When looking at universities and classes, Lincoln University came up on top. The smaller class numbers than at other universities, which promote better learning and interaction between professors and students, are what initially drew me here. I think it will be simpler for students to comprehend how statistics are applied in different businesses if research programs and case studies are incorporated into the curriculum. The institution also offers a wealth of networking possibilities with regional, national, and worldwide organizations. The multicultural community on campus is seen by students as kind and accepting. Learning in this setting, in my opinion, will benefit me in more ways than just honing my skill sets and making me a professional expert. I selected the BBA program because it equips me with the knowledge and skills I need to understand managerial duties in a business setting. Because of the many work opportunities, earning a BBA degree after completing your upper secondary education is seen as a wise move. You can acquire the information and abilities required in the business world by enrolling in a Bachelor of Business Administration program. Additionally, you will develop decision-making abilities that may open up a number of professional responsibilities and future career advancements. I chose the BBA program for that reason. I'll be able to work in a range of public and commercial sectors with my BBA. I intend to return home after finishing my studies with the goal of earning a degree from Lincoln University in the United States in order to improve my brand and company development abilities. I am confident that this program at your university will allow me to use my skills and potential to achieve my goal, and I think you will value my commitment to learning new things.

Regards

Harsh Kumar
