In today's fast-paced world, it's easy to feel uncertain about the decisions we make. To avoid any regrets, I wanted to take time to carefully plan my career path. After completing my senior secondary education in 2024, I wanted to be sure about the career path I chose before taking the next step. During this period, I focused on developing critical skills like leadership and decision-making, which not only helped me grow personally but also gave me clarity about my true passion—business. I realized that combining my background with business knowledge would allow me to approach challenges with a unique perspective. This realization inspired me to pursue a degree in business studies, as I believe it will help me contribute meaningfully to the professional world. Now, with a clearer vision and better preparation, I applied for the 2025 intake.
