Tajinder

After my sr sec., I had the chance to think deeply about my future and what truly excites me. I have always been curious about how machines work, from engines to automated systems. This curiosity led me to explore topics like thermodynamics, material science, and design engineering. I started reading about mechanical systems, watching tutorials, and understanding how different components come together to create efficient machines. The more I learned, the more my interest grew. I knew that mechanical engineering was the right path for me, and to gain the right knowledge and skills, I have applied for a degree in this field.
