She was an undergraduate student under my guidance and supervision from the academic session 2013-2015. As a student, she had shown keen interest in academics and clinical aspects in caring the patient in departments. She had analytical thinking and organizing ability where clearly evident in her presentation.

She had good knowledge and was able to identify clinical pathological condition and procedures. She showed the ability to take care of patient and able to interpret them independently to arrive in proper nursing diagnosis which helps in appropriate care plan. She displayed sound clinical knowledge. More over the compassion and organized patient management by her is price worthy. She had also demonstrated good communication skills. Her gentle attitude had earned her a gentle person among her classmates and hospital staffs. It's my pleasure to recommend Ms. Heena Rani for her further studies. I wish all success in her future endeavors.
